The Mir Titles Project 2026

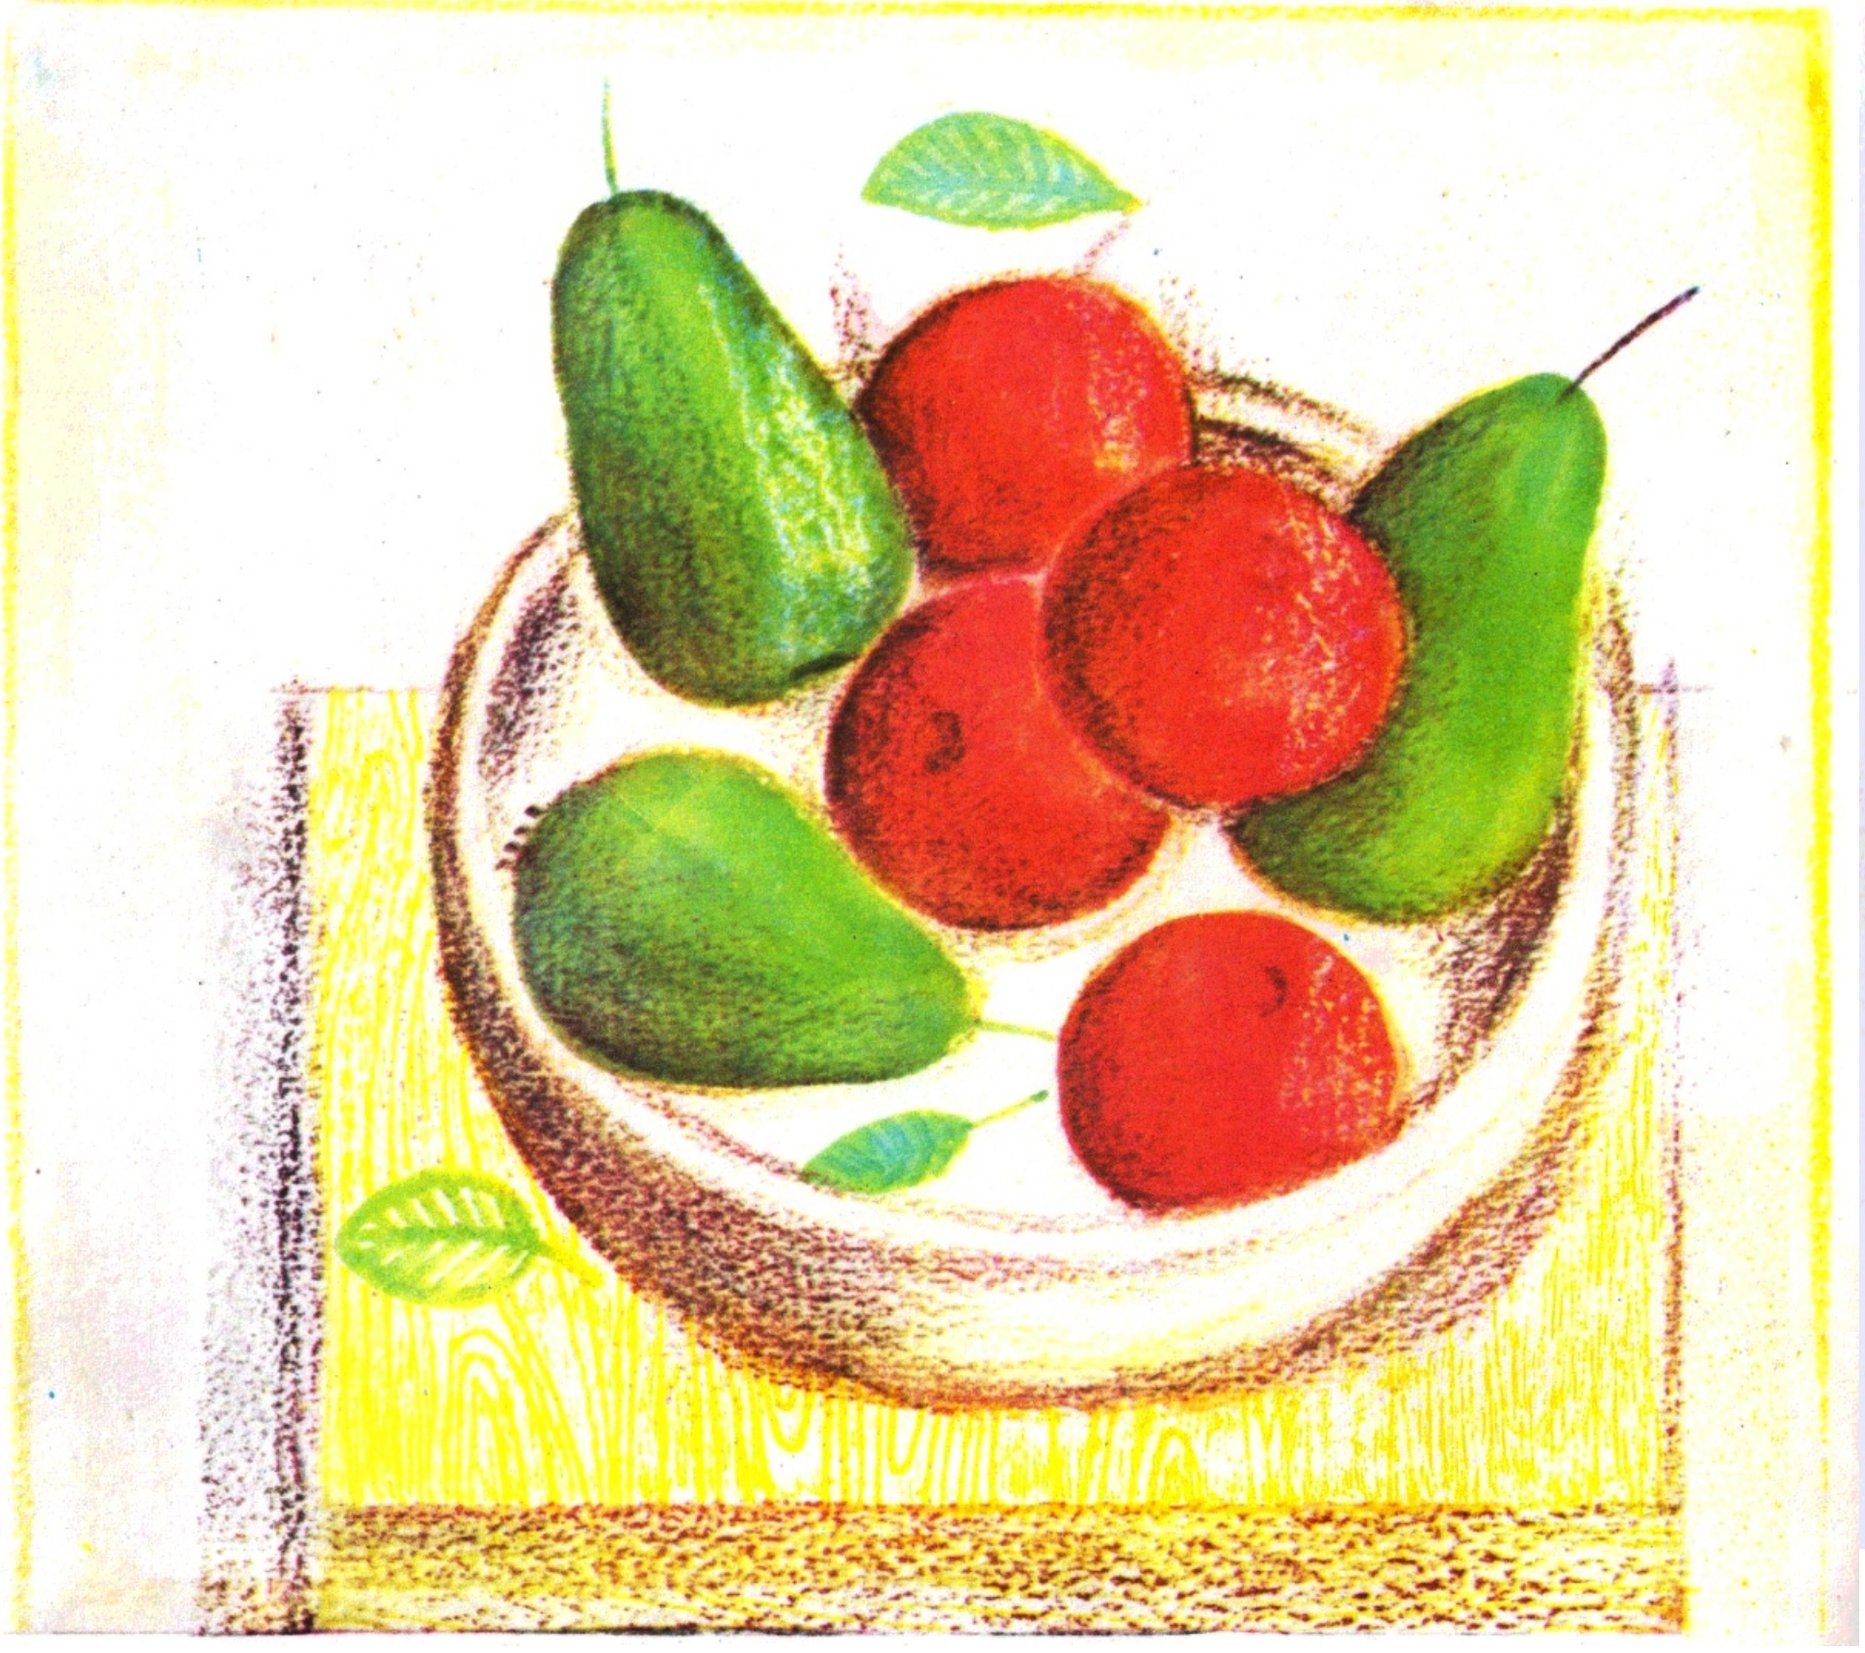
Marusya drew a cat and a rooster. Isn't that a strange rooster? And what about the cat? Marusya was joking, of course. But anyone who understands jokes will immediately tell you it's poorly drawn.

Anya, Dasha, and Pavel came to the kindergarten.
They are now in the cloakroom.
Show them which hooks they should hang their bags on.

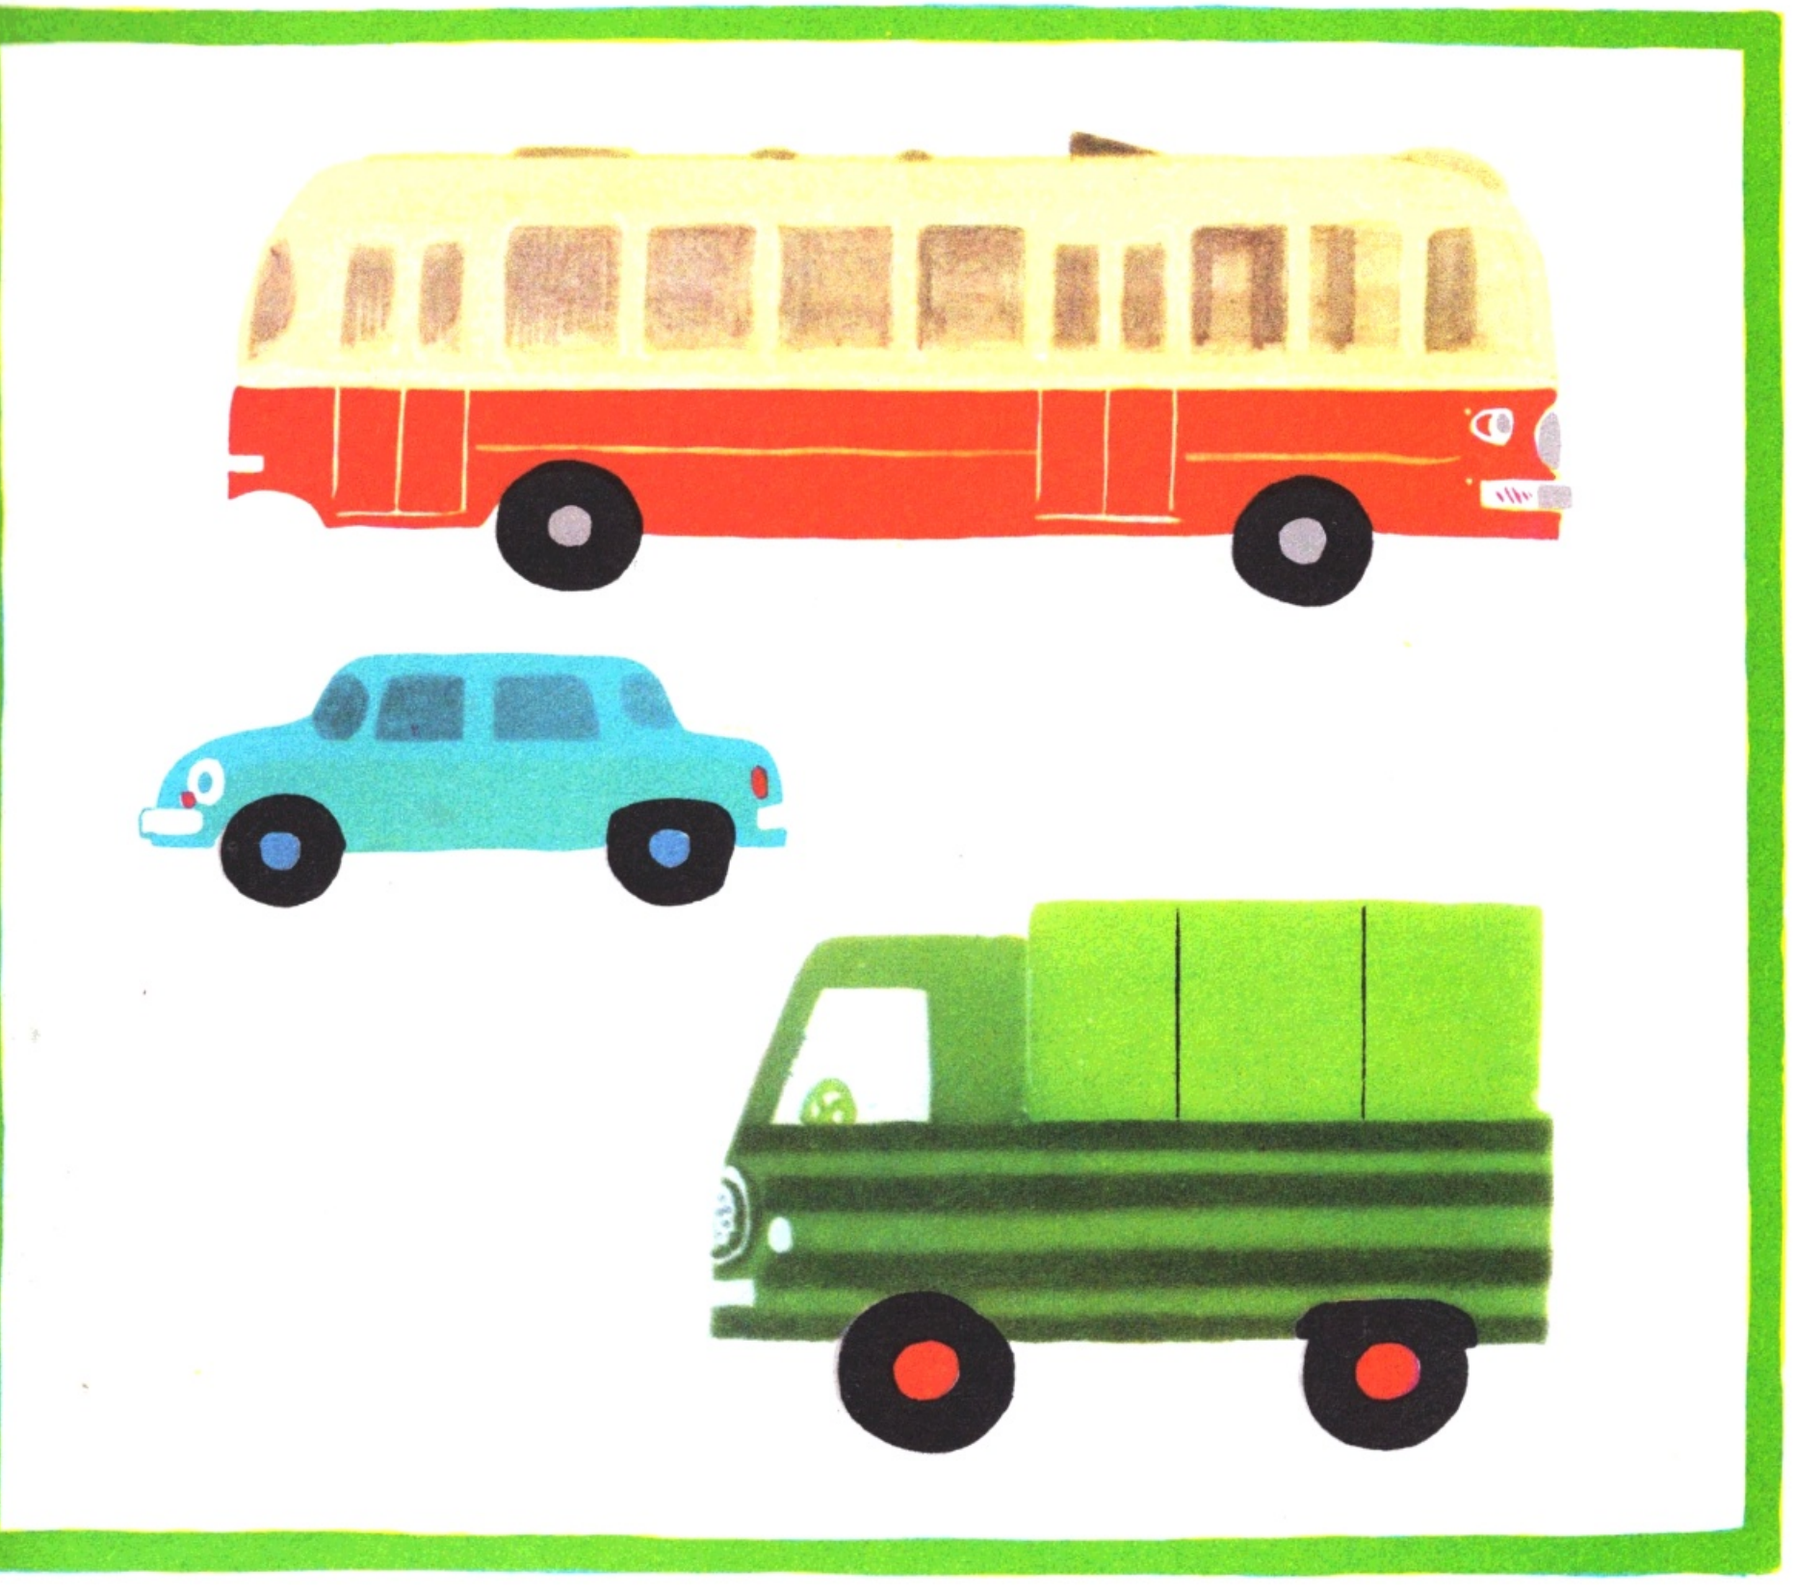
Marusya, Sonya, and Misha are getting ready for a walk. But they got so carried away talking that they didn't even notice a little dog that grabbed one of the shoes and ran off with it.
Think—whose shoe is it?



Which are there more of in the basket—apples or pears?

Yasha has fallen and is crying. Andryusha is laughing at him. Vanya helps Yasha get up from the ground and will probably take him home.
Who do you like more—Andryusha or Yasha?

The ball fell very far, onto the lawn. The children run after it. Marusya runs along the path, while Yasha runs straight across the lawn. Who ran correctly, and who ran incorrectly? Why?



Name these cars and show which car is small, which one is bigger, and which one is the biggest.

Katya lives on the second floor, and Petya on the third. Two mothers stepped out onto the balconies and are calling their children for lunch.
Which mother is calling Katya, and which one...

Here is the airfield. Passengers are boarding the plane. Another identical plane has just taken off. We see it up in the sky.
Why does it look so small?

What surprises you in this picture?

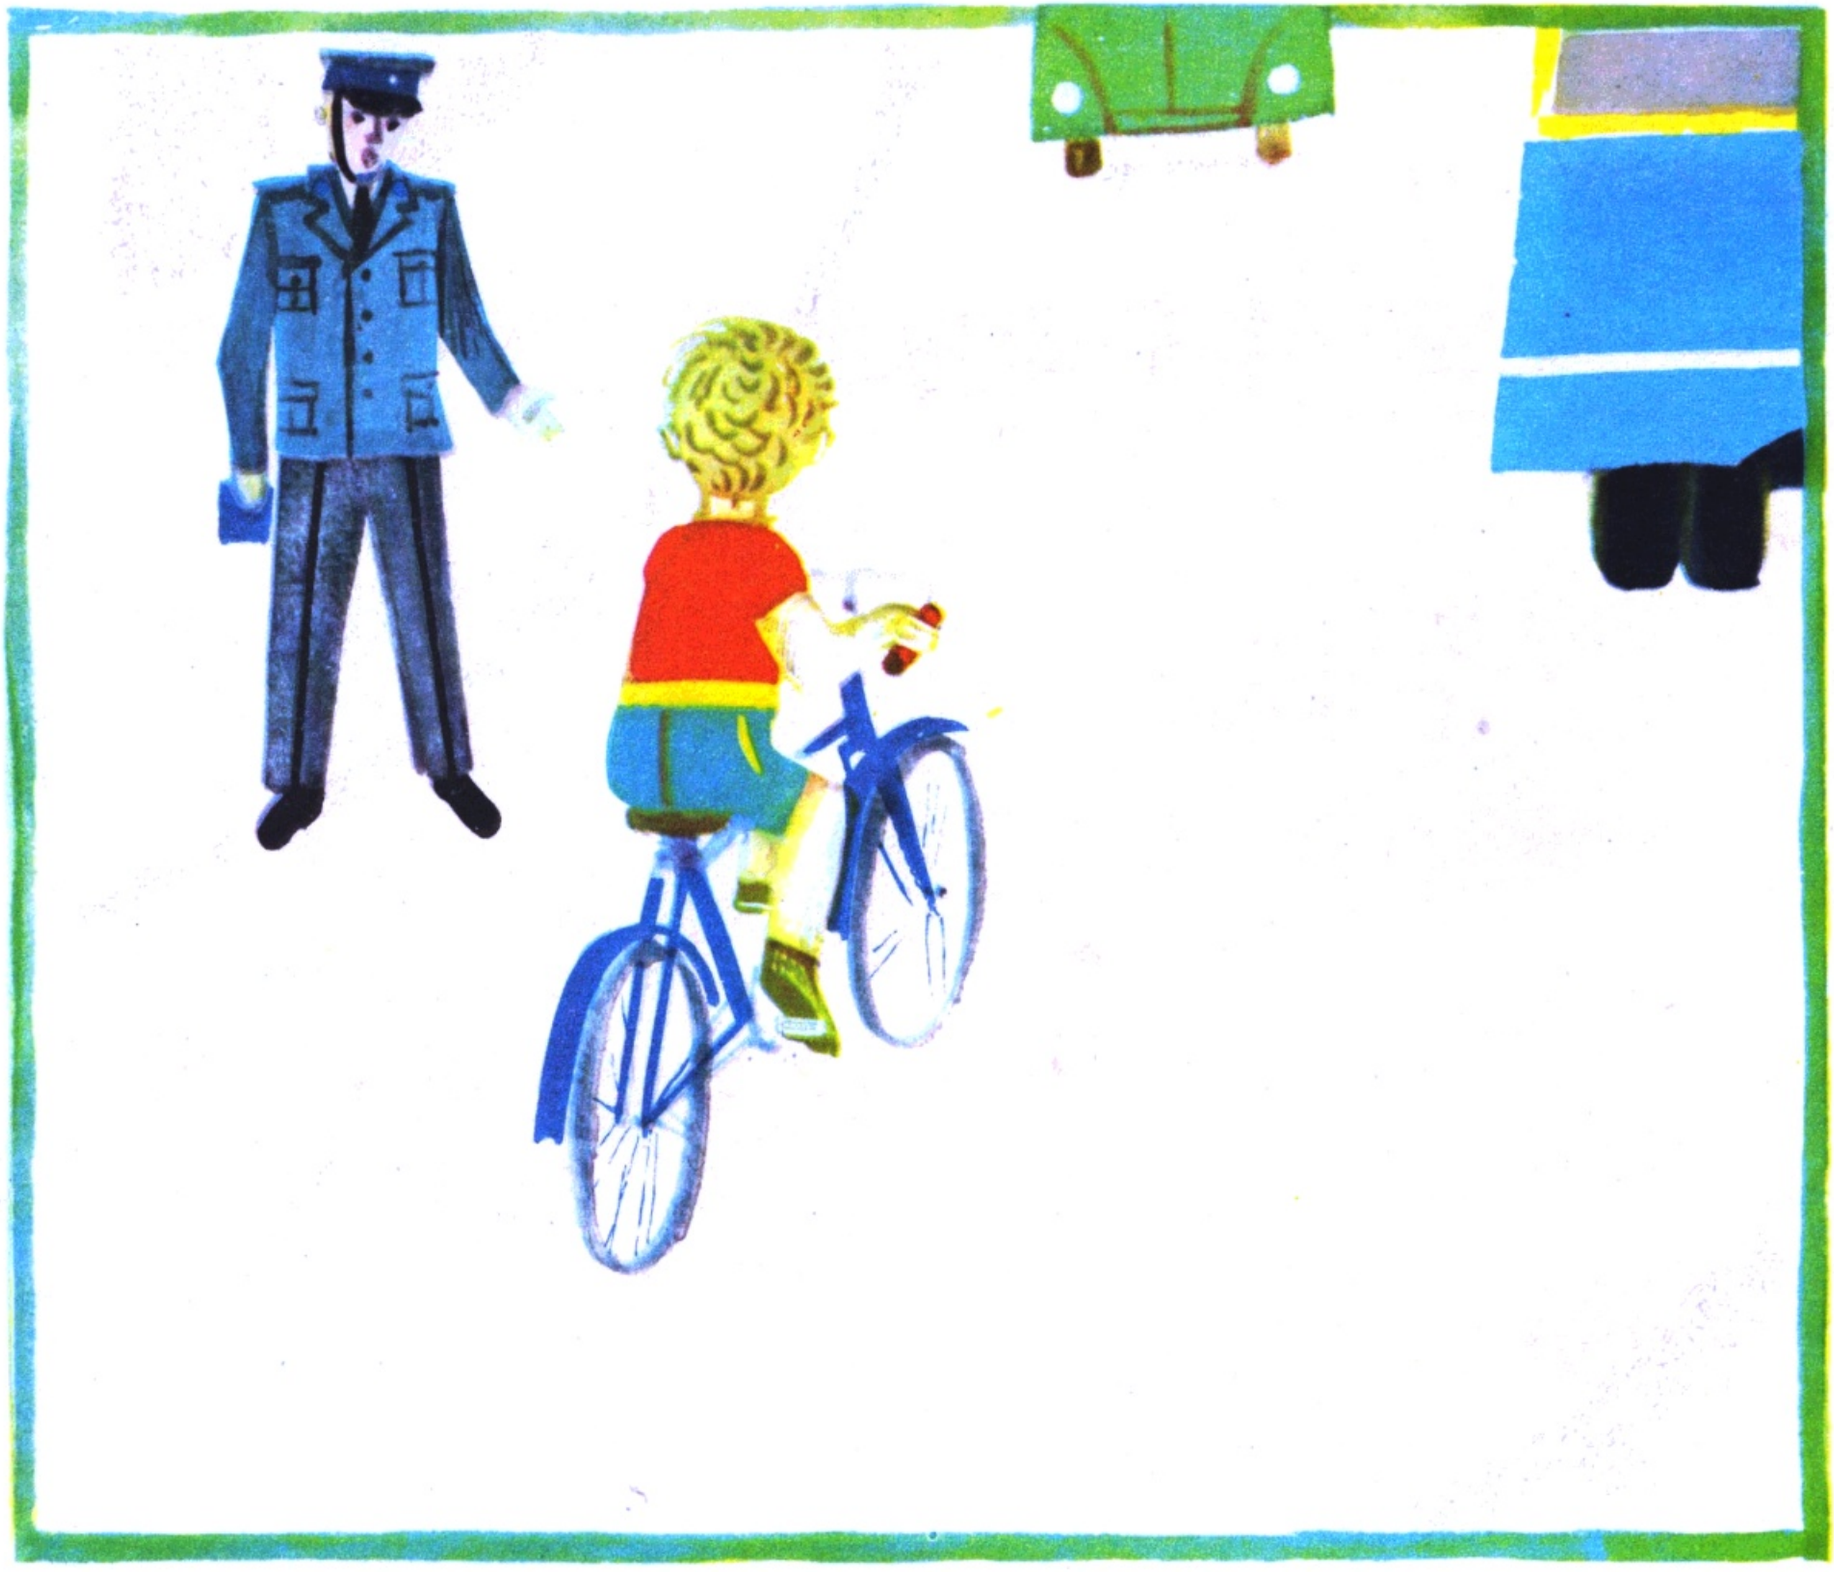
The girl in the small picture at the bottom is named Anya. Find Anya among the children in the large picture.

Is the little figure playing with the children?
No, the children are running around the little figure.
Count how many children are playing around the little figure.

The girl with the bow is named Zoya, and the other girl is named Tasya. Show which one is leaving the house and which one is returning home.

The mischievous wind swapped the hats of the doll, the dwarf, the toadstool, and the garden scarecrow. Help them find their own hats.

Four cars are driving along the street.
One of them is taking a patient to the hospital.
Where are the other three cars going?



Misha is riding his bicycle in the middle of the road.
Would you say he is behaving well?

Zoya is crossing the street with her dog. Marusya and her father are standing on the sidewalk. Why aren't they crossing to the other side? What are they waiting for?

A car is speeding along the road. Suddenly, the driver sees a triangular road sign showing two children and immediately slows down.
Why?

Look at this picture and say: where does the bird live, and where do the fish and the bees live?

The children are playing with a ball. Igor has run over. Which group should he join so that each group has the same number of children?

Valya and Oleg placed a rubber elephant on the table and drew it. Two finished pictures are visible nearby. Which picture did Valya draw, and which one did Oleg draw?

Anyuta invited guests to her birthday. She counted them: Marusya, Asya, Oleg, Yasha, and Misha—that makes five people. She has already put five plates on the table and is now carrying five cups. Did Anyuta accidentally forget someone? Who did she forget to count?

The children in the picture at the bottom are Anya, Misha, and Lucy. In the picture at the top, the children are playing hide-and-seek.

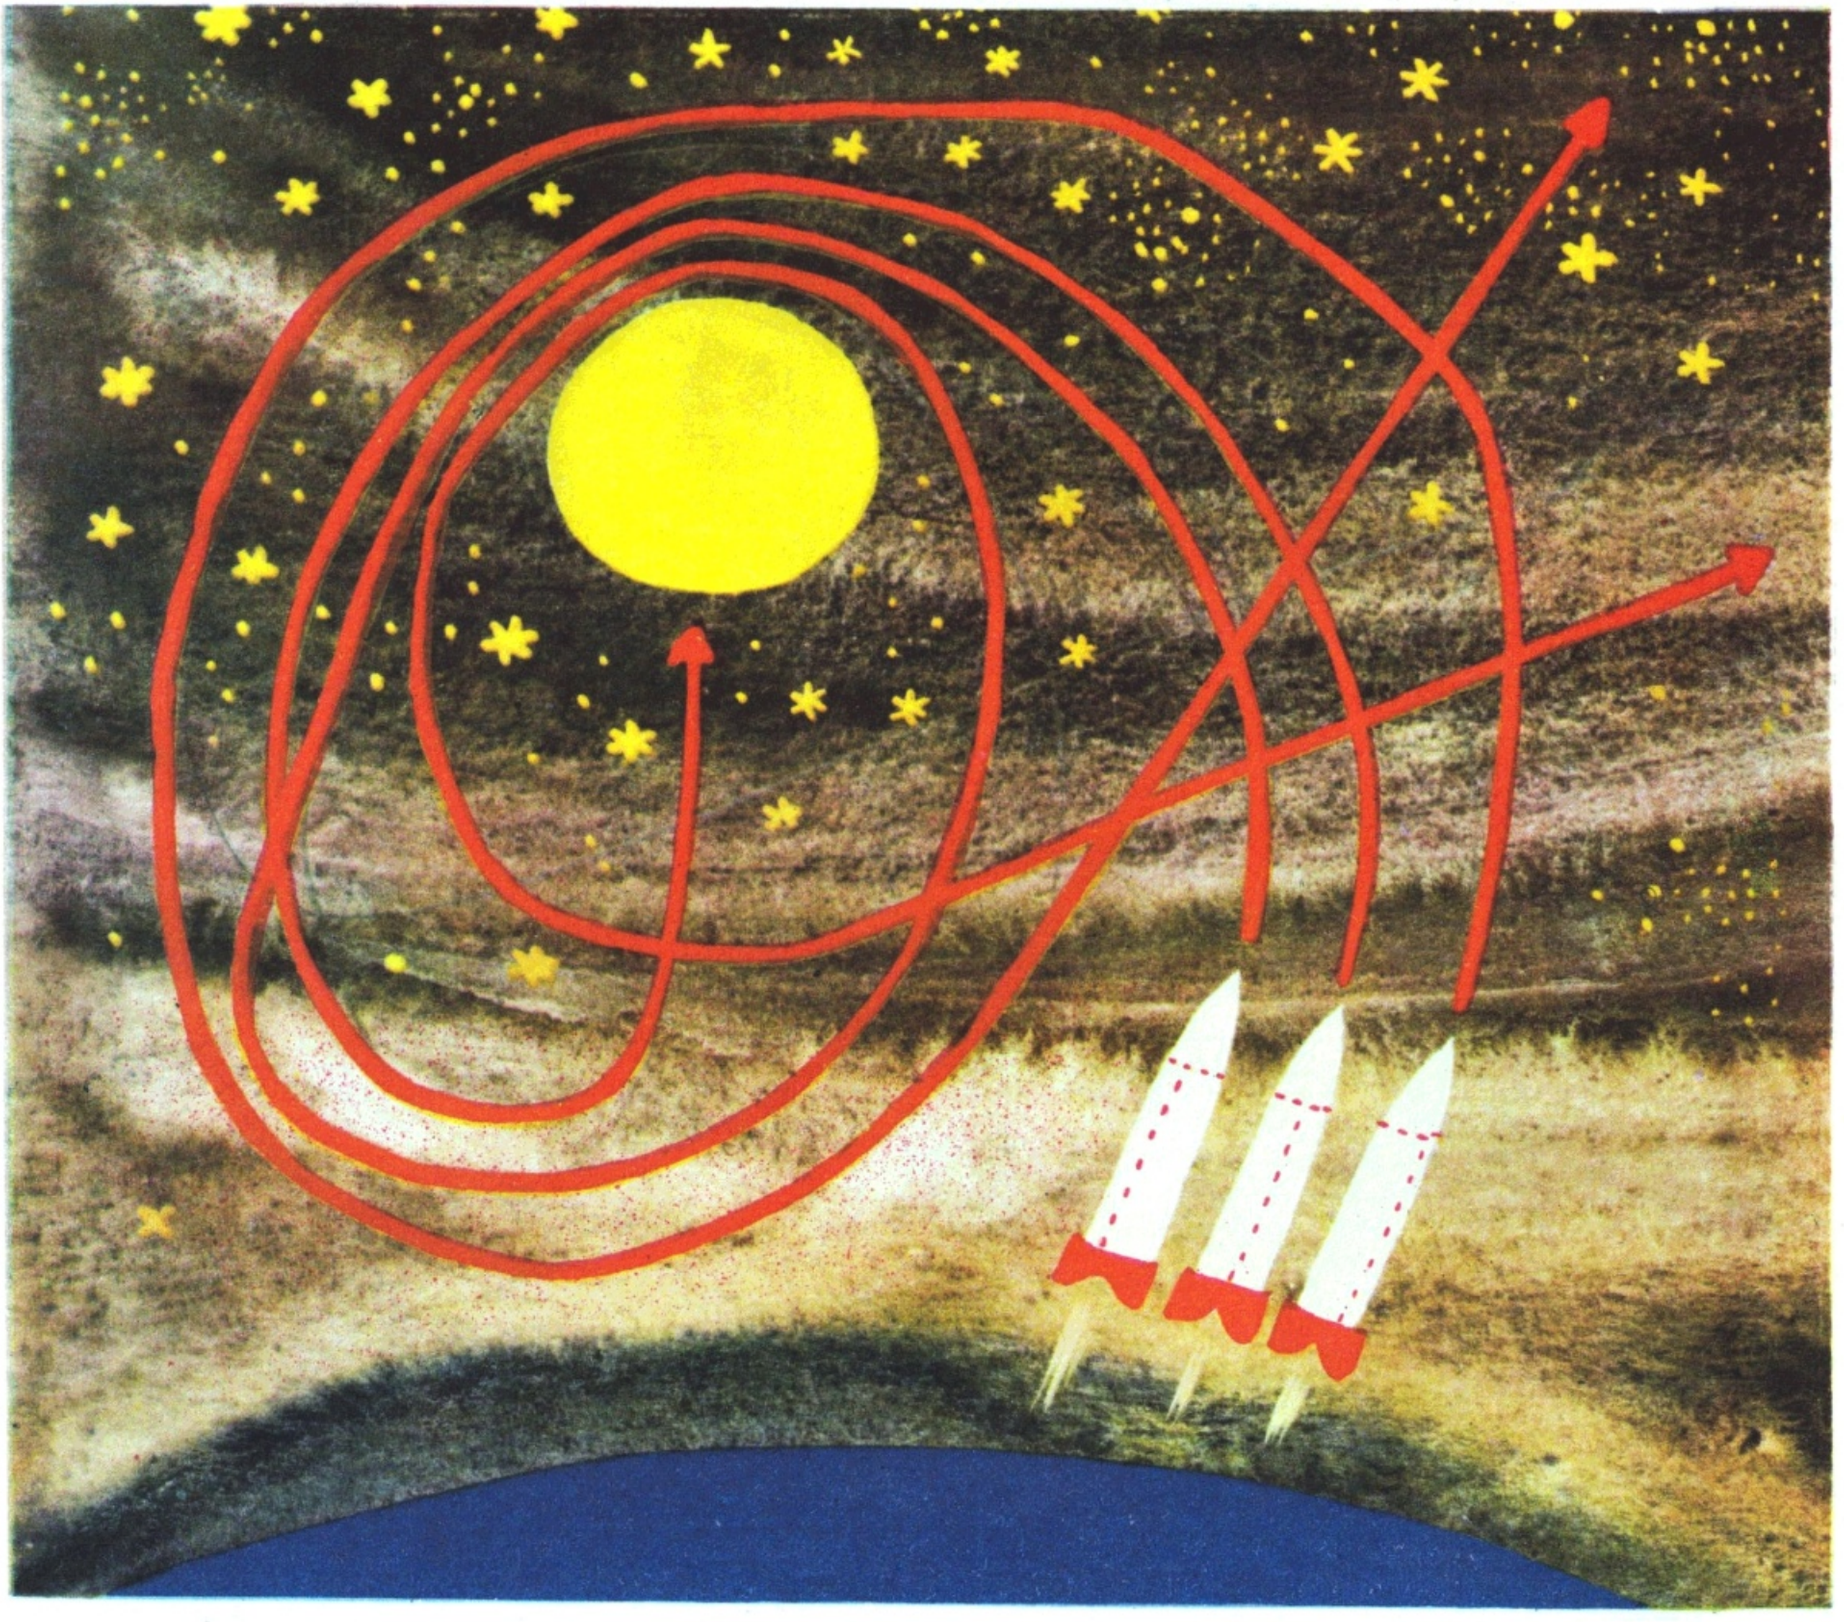
Anya, Lucy, and Misha are hiding, and Yura is looking for them. Help Yura find Anya, Lucy, and Misha.

In which direction is the river flowing?

Marusya lives on Vesyolaya Street in house number three. She wants to visit Nyusa, who also lives on Vesyolaya Street, in house number nine.
Which direction will Marusya go?

Which of these animals will be able to climb a tree?

Vitya was looking closely at the neighbouring houses, and then he drew one of them.



Three rockets took off from Earth towards the Moon.
